

At ClientWhys, Inc., we are committed to protecting your privacy and ensuring the security of the information you submit to us. We want your use of the ClientWhys web site, and the services we offer, to be productive and safe. Our Privacy Policy illustrates our commitment to your privacy and security.

When you register at ClientWhys, we request your name, email address, phone number, postal address, ZIP Code, state, and country. We use this data to manage registrations, and, when you place an order and to contact you about your order. We may use your email address, mailing address and/or phone number to contact you regarding new product offerings and other aspects of your use of the ClientWhys web site. If, however, you do not wish to receive such communications, you have the ability to "opt-out" at any time.

In order to take payment for your order, we collect credit card information. To maintain the highest level of security, your credit card information is encrypted using secure sockets layer (SSL) technology. SSL is secure server software that protects against any unauthorized access. ClientWhys uses your credit card information for the sole purpose of accepting payment for your order.

From time to time, we may ask you to answer surveys regarding current or future ClientWhys products. Participation in these surveys is always optional. Survey responses are only used in the aggregate, and are never linked to an individual. While our survey data is primarily for use within ClientWhys only, we may occasionally share the aggregate survey data with our development partners (e.g. web design, advertising and marketing agencies) in order to facilitate new product development.

We may occasionally have a special relationship with another company, an entity that we think of as a marketing partner. By this we mean that a portion or version of our web site is integrated into our partner's web site or is integrated with our partner's content or branding. In such a circumstance, because we are jointly presenting our web site with our partner, and because the partner is referring customers to ClientWhys, we may agree to share information with the partner as part of our formal contract with that partner, including confidentiality and use obligations and restrictions regarding how the partner may use the information. In these instances where ClientWhys and a partner jointly promote ClientWhys' Services, ClientWhys may provide the partner certain personal information, such as the name, address, and username as a result of the joint promotion of ClientWhys. We only share this information for users coming to ClientWhys from a partner web site. Again, at the point of registration, you have the option to "opt-out" of receiving emails or promotional materials. If you have linked to ClientWhys through a marketing partner as described here, the web page you view will be co-branded with the marketing partner. If you would like information about the information use and practices of a marketing partner, ClientWhys recommends that you view the policy of the marketing partner.

For Turnkey Marketing Services

ClientWhys, Inc. has created this privacy policy to demonstrate our firm commitment to privacy. To ensure the highest level of confidentiality and security, it is our goal to clarify our policy on the collection and use of customer client data. We will not give or sell your individual client information to any outside company for its use in marketing or solicitation. When you provide your personal information to ClientWhys, Inc. (such as name, company name, address, phone number and e-mail), we will maintain the confidentiality of your personal information and will be used only to support your customer relationship with ClientWhys, Inc.

In addition, we limit employee access to and use of customer data to further protect your privacy. Our primary goal of requesting customer information is to improve the relationship between ClientWhys and the customer.

Changes to Policy

If there is a change in our policy, we will post it immediately at www.clientwhys.com.
